The Department of Social Sciences submits its students to study for four years to gain a bachelor's degree to work in governmental establishments. The students of this department are provided with the necessary skills and experience required for their future careers. The course of undergraduate study is rigorous and comprehensive, preparing students for future professional and academic activities in the fields they specialize in. The scientific courses in this department are balanced between the curricula and actual life. The combination of these courses has become something of great importance. The department includes lectures that impart an overall knowledge of the basic principles and essential details regarding the field of specialty.
10. Programme Educational Objectives
The educational objectives of social studies aim to equip students with the knowledge, skills, and values necessary to become informed and responsible citizens. These objectives are designed to help students understand the past, relate that understanding to the present, and use that understanding to make choices for their lives. They also emphasize the importance of civic engagement and service to the community, as well as the interconnectedness of different aspects of life. By learning about the world around them, students can better understand their place in it and how people and societies are organized. They can also learn about political systems, economic systems, and the history of human civilizations, which are all important for their futures.
